

Good general tips for at home:

- Have filters on your Wi-Fi
- Have kid devices in a common area for charging and overnight
- Have screen free times such as during dinner
- Have conversations with your students about what they're doing online and good digital citizenship

Restrictions

Restrictions can be a tool for parents to use to limit certain apps, downloading, purchasing, messaging, social media, etc. For example, if you wanted to not let your student use Messages, you would go to Settings, go to Messages, and sign them out if they were signed in. Then still in Settings, go to General. Go to Restrictions, and once that's turned on and a code is set (a code your student wouldn't know), one of the options towards the bottom is under Allow Changes and says Accounts. You can turn that off. Then a student will not be able to sign in or out of additional accounts. For more information on Restrictions check out these resources:

The library can loan a student an iPad if their iPad is being repaired. Even students that have personal iPads that are in for repair can borrow an iPad from the library for up to two weeks while it is in for repair. The library cannot loan out iPads if a student forgot the iPad at home.
